VERY SAD DEATH

MRS. ABRAHAMS, FORMERLY IDA MEYERS, DIED AT TRINIDAD, YESTERDAY.

CAUSE ASSIGNED TO PERITONITIS

She Gave Birth to Twins Thursday Night and Had Been Critically Ill Since—Mother Summoned to Colorado Yesterday.

Mrs. Ida Abrahams, nee Meyers, wife of a prominent physician of Trinidad, Col., and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter R. Meyers, of 500 West Third street, died at her home in Colorado at 5:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, death being assigned to peritonitis, which developed after the birth of twin sons last Thursday night.

At 5 o'clock Saturday morning Mr. Meyers received a telegram from Trinidad, stating that Mrs. Abrahams condition was critical and requesting the attendance of Mrs. Meyers at the earliest possible moment. Two hours later Mrs. Meyers left for her daughter's bedside.

At 3:30 o'clock last afternoon a second message came stating that the patient's condition was critical in the extreme and that she was not expected to live twenty-four hours.

The last message announcing her death reached here at 7 o'clock last evening.

Mrs. Abrahams was the eldest child of Mr. and Mrs. Meyers, and gave birth to twins last Thursday night. Her condition became critical at the time, but the physicians hoped for her recovery until a decided change for the worse Friday, when hope was abandoned.

Mrs. Abrahams was born in Sedalia on Nov. 26, 1875. She was reared and educated in this city, completing the grade school course at Sacred Heart school, after which she spent one year at Central Business college.

As a vocalist she was recognized as one of more than ordinary powers. For more than ten years she was one of the leading members of the choir of Sacred Heart Catholic church, and also took a prominent part in the Ladies' Musical club, being a regular adviser of the club's president, Mrs. W. D. Steele.

On August 14, 1907, at Sacred Heart church, the deceased was wedded to Dr. Abrahams. The couple left at once for Trinidad, where on June 26, 1908, their first child, a son, was born.

Besides the husband and babe, deceased is survived by her parents and one brother, Leo Meyers, a former Sedalian, now of Trinidad.

Mrs. Abrahams was a devout and active member of Sacred Heart church, and also held membership in the various ladies' societies. Her character and life from infancy to womanhood was a model for many, and on reading of her untimely death all will say a kind word in memory of a life admirably spent.

Mr. Meyers, on receiving the death message, telegraphed to Colorado to learn what funeral arrangements are being made, but up to a late hour last night no response had been received, and it is not known whether burial will be made here or in Trinidad.

Cut Off End of Finger.

Jolly P. Hurtt, operator of a linotype in the office of the Democrat-Sentinel, had the tip end of the middle finger of his left hand cut off at 9 o'clock Saturday morning by getting it caught in one of the three machines, of which he has charge. Dr. W. H. Evans dressed the wound, but Jolly will be off from work several days.

Mr. Hurtt is one of the best and swiftest operators in Missouri, and in the twelve years that he has been operating a machine this is his first accident.

BURNED TO DEATH

WEALTHY LOUISIANA PLANTER MET MOST HORRIBLE DEATH NEAR HOME.

TIED TO A TREE AND BURNED

When Found He Was Unconscious and Died After Being Revived for an Instant—Refused to Tell Names of Murderers.

International News Service.

Lake Charles, La., June 11.—Tied to a tree and practically cremated alive, was the fate of James Perkins, a wealthy planter, living near here. Perkins was found late last night in a pine thicket near his home by a party of searchers.

He was unconscious and apparently dead from horrible burns. He was removed to his home, where after an instant's revival he died.

He refused to tell the names of the men who burned him, declaring he would live to avenge his own ill treatment.

From the evidence discovered it appears that Perkins was captured by enemies, tied to a tree, saturated with oil and the torch applied. Some time ago he had trouble with squatters.

Perkins was well known in Western Louisiana and Eastern Texas. He had big land holdings and much other property.

Dr. Hoberecht is a graduate of the Sedalia High school, later pursuing his studies at St. Louis. Soon after his graduation he became associated with the public service hospital of St. Louis, where he established an enviable reputation.

MOST BRUTAL HUSBAND

Sad Tale of the Sufferings of a Young Wife in Virginia.

International News Service.

Richmond, Va., June 11.— Mrs. Mary Greenwald, aged 21, in police court today told the judge that her husband had stripped her nude and lashed her unmercifully with a horsewhip, laying open the flesh on her back and breast, into which he rubbed salt and turpentine.

On another occasion he knocked her unconscious with a blow from a club. The husband was put under a peace bond while inquiry is being made into his sanity.

TO MARRY TONIGHT

E. H. Beger and Miss Irma H. Eddins By Rev. Miller.

Ernest H. Beger, a Missouri Pacific shopman, residing at 1203 East Brodway, and Miss Irma H. Eddins, a daughter of L. S. Eddins, the well known railway accident insurance agent, will be united in marriage at the home of the bride-elect tonight.

The ceremony will be said by the Rev. R C Miller, pastor of the East Sedalia Baptist church. Only immediate relatives will be present.

TO WED JUNE 14

DR. B. E. BROADDUS AND MISS MARY WALKER BOWERS. BOTH OF SEDALIA.

REV. PRIGMORE TO OFFICIATE

Ceremony Will Be Said at Young Lady's Home—Only Close Relatives to Be Present—Couple Will Take Two Weeks' Honeymoon.

A pretty though unostentatious wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night, June 14, when the Rev. J. D. Prigmore, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, unites as husband and wife Dr. Beverly E. Broaddus and Miss Mary Walker Bowers.

Although not a complete surprise, the news of the approaching event will be read with interest by hundreds of Sedalians.

The ceremony will be pronounced at the home of the bride-elect, 911 South Prospect avenue, in the presence of only immediate relatives, the wishes of the couple being to eliminate all features pertaining to an elaborate wedding.

There will be no attendants. The house will be decorated in simple though pretty decorations, and immediately after the wedding a luncheon will be served to the bridal couple and guests.

The bridal party will leave Tuesday night for a two weeks' honeymoon at points unknown to outsiders, and on returning to Sedalia will be at home to friends at the bride's home.

Among the relatives to attend the wedding will be the following out-of-town guests: Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Hodges, of Cairo, Ill., the latter a sister of the bride; Miss Irene Broaddus, of St. Louis; Mrs. Clarence Weiscup, wife of a St. Louis surgeon and a sister of the groom; B. V. Broaddus, of St. Louis, father of the groom; Orville Broaddus, of Cooper county; Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Bouldin and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Bouldin, all of Hughesville, relatives of the bride.

Dr. Broaddus— a young man of sterling character and worth—is one of Central Missouri's leading dentists. His ability is rated among the best and his friends are numerous.

His bride-to-be, it can sincerely be said, is one of Sedalia's refined, cultured and admirable young ladies. She is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bowers, the former for years solicitor for the Democrat-Sentinel, and connected with one of the most aristocratic families of the state.

For a number of years Miss Bowers has been engaged as instructress in the Sedalia public schools, where, soon after her appointment, she won the esteem and respect of her superiors, as well as the love and confidence of her subordinates, and on learning of her approaching marriage legions of Sedalians, both young and old, will join the Democrat-Sentinel in wishing the popular young couple a long life of wedded bliss.

Myer Muskovitz Charged With Stabbing D. A. Grammar.

The preliminary examination of Myer Muskovitz, a Greek, charged with dangerously stabbing D. A. Grammar, proprietor of Grammar's Palace of Sweets, on Sunday, May 29, was held before Police Judge James C. Connor, ex-officio justice of the peace, Saturday afternoon.

The defendant was represented by Attorney C. C. Kelly, who filed a motion that the charge be dismissed, but Judge Connor looked at the situation differently and held the defendant to the action of criminal court in the sum of $500 bail, which he furnished.

Judge George F. Longan has been retained by the prosecuting witness to assist H. D. Dow in the prosecution of Muskovitz.

The graduation class for this year consists of twenty-three members. Young McGurren is a student in the commercial department and made the highest average in studies of any of the thirteen graduates in this department, a record of which both he and his father may justly feel proud.

DEFENDS THE MEN

MRS. SENATOR DU BOIS IN WOMAN'S CONGRESS CREATED MUCH INTEREST.

MAN THE REAL HOME MAKER

Claims Many American Girls Marry Only for Convenience—Bridge-Playing Mother Denounced By Two Members.

Denver, Col., June 11.—Mrs. Fred T. DuBois, wife of the United States senator from Idaho, attracted attention in the annual congress of Mothers and Parent Teachers' association here today by declaring, "The man of America is the real home-maker, not the woman; who pays the rent, who buys the provisions, who sees to it that every need of mother and child are gratified? The men build and forage while too often the woman demands more. The average American girl grows up and thinks of marriage only as a means to an end, which is the greater independence and personal liberty which comes from the assurance that all bills will be paid. This evil the Mothers' Congress must efface."

The bridge whist mother was denounced by Mrs. Yarnall, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Orville Bright, of Chicago. The report of Mrs. Schoeff, president, showed a remarkable growth for the association.

This evening was devoted to hearing brief reports by various state presidents on the general topic, "The opportunities of the Mothers' and Parents' associations in relation to health, mental and spiritual development and social betterment."

DIED AWAY FROM HOME

Little Boy Taken From a Missouri Pacific Train Here.

Kenneth Estes, a four and one-half-year-old son of Mrs. G. S. Estes, of Stafford Kan. died from diphtheria fever here Saturday after a brief illness, contracted while en route home from Clover Port, Ky.

The child first developed diphtheria symptoms on a Missouri Pacific train shortly after leaving St. Louis. Several physicians were on the train at the time, en route home from the American Medical association meeting at St. Louis.

The conductor refused to transport the child farther than Sedalia, and at his request the little one was taken off the train here, dying several hours later.

The remains were shipped to Pawnee Rock, Kan., for burial.

All members of the camp and auxiliary will assemble at the lodge hall at 1:30 p. m., and march to the cemetery, where the address of the day will be delivered by J. E. Swanger, former secretary of state, and one of the leading members of the order.

The graves of the deceased members of the order will be decorated with flowers this morning by a committee, consisting of W. D. O'Bannon, Edward Zoellig and John M. Woods.

There have been only two deaths in the camp since the last memorial day services.

It is expected that fully 200 members of the order will be in the line of march.

The last sad rites over the remains of Shelley Patterson, who was drowned in the Colorado river at Austin, Tex., last Tuesday night, were conducted at the home of deceased's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Patterson, 305 West Fifth street, at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The Rev. J D Prigmore, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, officiated, and delivered a touching eulogy in memory of the beloved dead.

The music was in charge of Miss Agnes Scott Longan, assisted by Mrs. C. H. Bard, soprano; Miss Eunice Cousley, alto; Will Jakeman, tenor, and Turner Wilson, bass.

The numbers rendered were, "In the Hour of Sorrow," and "Lead, Kindly Light."

HAD SPECIAL MUSIC

The First Social Session Held By Fidelity Council in New Hall.

An informal social session was held by the members of Fidelity Council, No. 53, Knights and Ladies of Security, in the new hall in the Odd Fellows' building Friday night, during which time a splendid musical program was rendered by the Rucker orchestra, of Tipton, who came up for the occasion and to enjoy the meeting in the new hall with its new and expensive furnishings.

During the business meeting two applications were balloted upon and the following candidates initiated: John T. Stinson, Eugene Couey and F. S. Stein.

After the close of the meeting the carpets, which are put down so as to be removed in five minutes, were removed, and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing, which was interspersed by solo numbers from Arthur Koock, a former well known Sedalia singer, who is now visiting his parents here.

Ice cream and cake were served to the more than 200 members and friends present.

OPEN DOOR RIGHTS CONSIDERED

Notes Have Been Exchanged in Profusion Between the Cabinets of London, St. Petersburg and Berlin Recently.

BY STEVEN BURNETT.
International News Service.

Berlin, June 11.—Unless all indications fail, Europe will very shortly find itself in the presence of another first-class international incident. The apple of discard is Persia, and the stormy petrel Germany. German pretensions with reference to "open door" rights under the Anglo-Russian convention have been put forth with the dramatic suddenness of which Teuton policy is so fond, and are being pressed with unmistakable emphasis. Notes have been exchanged in profusion between the cabinets of London, St. Petersburg and Berlin within the past ten days but no basis for satisfatcion of Germany's claims has yet revealed itself.

The inspired German press has already referred to the ominous resemblance of the Persian situation to the Moroccan crisis. The situations, from the German standpoint, are indeed absolutely analagous. The raison d'etre, both of German armaments and German foreign policy, is unceasingly declared to be the necessity of safeguarding German trade—not only trade that the fatherland has, but trade which she hopes and aspires to get in the world's few remaining open markets. It was out of such considerations Germany alleged, that she threatened France with war over Morocco; and if there

TO BE BIG BANK

CONSOLIDATION OF TWO OF CHICAGO'S FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS IS CONSUMMATED.

WILL AGGREGATE $184,442,246

Next to the City National of New Yark, New Bank Will Be the Largest in the Whole United States.

Chicago, Ill., June 11.—"This is a move to make Chicago sufficient for the financial needs of the gigantic growth of the middle west, and it will be unnecessary in the future in the promotion of big industrial enterprises to go over the heads of Chicago bankers to New York for their financing. In creating this bank we have been guided by the sentiment that the West, which produces the real wealth of the coutry, should be able to finance itself." George M. Reynolds, president of the newly created Continental and Commercial National bank, an institution which, with deposits aggregatig $184,442,246, will be the biggest bank in Chicago and the second in the nation, today made this comment on the big merger after the boards of directors of both component banks had ratified the plan of consolidation.

The capital of the Continental and Commercial National will be $20,000,000, and it will have a surplus of $13,072,000, or a combined capital and surplus of $33,072,000. This figure is exceeded only by the National City bank of New York and the National Bank of Commerce of New York. The latter institution, although exceeding the Consolidated bank in capital and surplus, has smaller deposits.

HUSBAND STILL MISSING

Police of Como Think Porter Charlton Killed His Wife—Every Seaport Is Watched.

Como, Italy, June 11.—Porter Charlton, husband of the woman found murdered here, has not yet been found. Some think he also was slain, and it is also reported he was seen yesterday near Lake Como. The post mortem shows that Mrs. Charlton died some time after she had been placed in the runk. The police theory of the motive is that Charlton wearied of her and determination to rid himself of her, placed her in the trunk while still alive, and she died of suffocation. The trunk was heavy and could not have been handled by one man. There were seven wounds in the head. Detectives are watching every seaport and the police are anxious to get a man who fled to Switzerland immediately after the murder. His name has not been made public.

Each of the eleven Masonic lodges in Pettis and Johnson counties will attend. The school will be conducted by Grand Master McLachlan and William A. Hall, of St. Louis, grand master of the order.

THE Y. M. C. A. FUND.

It has been suggested that an opportunity be given farmers and others who have their homes tributary to Sedalia to give to the $50,000 Y. M. C. A. fund that is now being raised. Many families not residing within the corporate limits of the city have young men who are frequent visitors in Sedalia. Many of them are attending the schools here. Others have friends in town and still others come to the city seeking diversion from the labors on the farm.

Certain it is that a place such as Sedalia citizens are endeavoring to provide for young men would prove as advantageous and as morally wholesome to these visitors and would not force them into the saloons and other places of more or less degenerate influences. In other words, what is good for Sedalia is good for all the country around.

A more wholesome place of amusement and instruction can not be provided than a properly conducted Y. M. C. A. That the Sedalia institution will be so conducted is a certainty. See the men who are behind the movement—John Montgomery, D. H. Smith, Charles McLaughlin Judge Louis Hoffman and James T. Montgomery make up the executive committee, with W. E. Spencer as captain of the various committees who are doing the soliciting. These soliciting committees, like the executive committee, are made up of men of the highest business and moral integrity, without regard to sect or creed, so that all who contribute to the fund may be assured that the Sedalia Y. M. C. A. will be a model institution and conducted along lines commensurate with the character of the men engaged in the movement.

Therefore, this paper has no hesitancy in asking its friends asd readers, in and out of the city, to lend a hand to this praiseworthy institution.

Do it now!

MAKING THE PEOPLE PAY.

Senator Gallinger, of New Hampshire, has been mailing broadcast over the country, under his congressional frank, a volume of 482 pages, weighing a pound. As a private citizen it would cost him 8 cents postage to mail each one of these books. As a United States senator and by disguising the work as a "public document," the government, which means you and I and every other citizen, pays the postage.

Senator Gallinger's book is "A Story of a Tariff," and it is a story in more senses than one. That it is packed full of stories—T. R. would call them by a shorter and uglier name—is evidenced by the indignant protest on the floor of the senate by Senator Bacon, of Georgia, against an alleged quotation of his words in the book. Senator Bacon declared:

> So far as that pamphlet professes to quote me it is a gross misrepresentation * * * in which there is a studious effort to present only just so many words spoken by me as may entirely misrepresent what I really said.

Senator Gallinger's fine little scheme to circulate a partisan and untruthful defense of the robber tariff, in the interest of republican congressional candidates, at the expense of the whole people, may miscarry and the high tariff beneficiaries be forced to use some of their ill-gotten wealth to distribute their fraudulent campaign literature, inasmuch as Senator Bacon's protest against the garbling of his speech in an alleged "official document" has precipitated an investigation.

The United States government has succeeded in getting itself into a position where it may reasonably be charged with moral responsibility for the continuance of bloodshed and strife in Nicarauga. The United States has never had, so far as the public has been able to ascertain, any just grievance against President Madriz, yet it continues to encourage the insurgent Estrada and is therefore an agent in keeping up the fighting. It looks as though the Taft administration is itching for a pretext to seize Nicarauga and add it to "our possessions." If this is its ambition, the more manly, honorable and humane course would be to do it boldly, with its own troops and cease making of Estrada a monkey to pull its chestnuts out of the vre. But perhaps this straightforward course would not conform with Mr. Taft's idea of the ethics of benevolent assimilation.

The latest scheme of the New York republicans is to hitch Colonel Roosevelt as a candidate for the United States senate to succeed Chauncey Depew in front of their ticket and rely upon him to pull it through. The republican politicians do not like the colonel any better than they like the governor; they were as glad to get him removed from state politics as they are now to get the governor moved. But there are a good many people who want decent politics, and it is necessary, in the language of one New York statesman, to "pander to the better element."

President Taft has given Private Secretary Carpenter a new job as minister to Morocco. He probably wishes he could give Secretary of the Interior Ballinger one as ambassador to Timbuctoo and date it back a year or so.

Mr. Roosevelt saw a sham fight in France and a sham fight in Germany. Perhaps the rest of us will be able to witness a sham fight against the reactionaries of the republican party when Tedy comes marching home.

The girl who picks out the kind of automobile she wants is not nearly so lucky as the one who plans to live in a cottage and argues that she is abundantly able to do her own house work.

THE STRANGER GIRL.

A young girl not over seventeen years old entered a Russian village and inquired for conveyance to the nearest railway station. There was in her face none of that free-from-care look natural to girls of her age, but a serious, resolute expression as though she were intent upon some great purpose. She had no baggage except a leather traveling bag, which was noticeable, for she was not of the peasant class, who are often too poor to have any clothes except those on their backs, but one of an intermediate people between peasant and noble.

It happened that there had been a wedding in the village, and the groom was about to take his bride to his farm some versts away. Just as they were about to start a man entered the sledge without an invitation. The groom objected, whereupon the man showed the badge of a government official, which silenced any further refusal.

It was in the springtime, but the snow had not yet melted. The air was cold and penetrating, and the travelers were all wrapped in fur robes. But they were a gay party, cracking their jokes and chaffing the newly married couple. Only two persons sat mute—the government official and the stranger girl—though their rigid demeanor had no effect in dampening the spirits of the others. But presently, on coming to a wild tract that they were obliged to cross, they suddenly ceased their merriment. From the forest came a sound muffled by distance, but none the less terrible—a sound known only too well to the occupants of the sledge as the distant baying of wolves. The horses threw up their heads in fright, then set off at a gallop. The groom reached down under the seat and, not finding what he looked for turned pale.

"The arms!" he exclaimed. "Where are they?"

He looked at his young men friends successively. None had put in the weapons. Each had expected some one else to do so. They had been left behind.

Presently from the right and rear a dark mass came through the trees like black water pouring in before a rising tide. There is joined on the road and became a pack of wolves. There was but one weapon in the party, and that belonged to the government official. It was a revolver with six shots in its chambers. Its possession could not be considered a chance—it was hardly even a hope. Its owner drew it, cocked it and when the wolves came within range fired at the leader and rolled him over. A few of the pack pounced upon the dead wolf, while the rest came on. The official fired the six shots at intervals, with each shot killing a wolf, and when he had done this he had finished his defense. The party were at the mercy of the wolves. Though the horses were tearing along at frantic speed, the wolves were drawing nearer every moment. When they had come to a distance of about fifty feet the stranger girl rose from her seat, opened her satchel, took out a steel ball the size of an orange and, poising it in her right hand, said:

"I give my life to save yours. This man," referring to the government official, "will see that I disappear from the world. The stroke I intended for a tyrant, heaven wills, shall go only to a pack of wolves."

She threw the ball deliberately, and it came down near the center of the pack. There was a flash, an explosion, and where the wolves had been was a vacant spot around which carcasses and bits of carcasses were spread on the snow as if buttered with a huge knife. A few lay moaning in agony, while a few more limped or dragged themselves away.

The party had been saved.

All turned to the stranger girl, the bride and her girl companions throwing their arms about her, the men seizing her hands and covering them with kisses. Then, when they had given full expression to their gratitude, they turned to the government official, who sat mute.

"What is your intention with regard to our preserver?" asked the groom.

"She is my prisoner."

"Inform on her at your peril!"

"If I don't inform on her I will be at a peril equal to any you can inflict. She was reported as being in correspondence with revolutionists at the capital. I was sent by the minister of the interior to shadow her. If I fail to report her I will be arrested, taken to St. Petersburg and executed."

"Friends," said the groom, "this girl has given us our lives by killing a pack of wolves. Is it not our duty to give her hers by killing this man whose life means her death?"

"It is," responded every voice.

It was determined to bind the man to a tree and leave him to the wolves, but the stranger girl would not consent. Then upon consultation it was decided that after leaving the others at their destination the men of the party should take the revolutionist beyond the border. They consented to spare the life of the official on his agreement to go with them, never to return. He gladly accepted the terms, and after reaching the farm and an impressive farewell to the stranger girl the sledge was whisked away on its new course. The party reached the border and passed it in safety.—Emmaline T. Boyd.

Georgia Pine Doomed.

That the greater part of Georgia's pine is irretrievably doomed is incontrovertible. But it is a doom that has been made necessary by the demand of industry and is to be regretted only from a point of sentimentality. Reforestation for the most part is out of the question and even if practical would be unwise.

In the first place the Georgia long leafed pine has the unhappy faculty of seldom reproducing itself true to the parent tree, the second growth pine being smaller, sappier, knottier, and in every way an inferior tree; in the second the pine lands of Georgia have a far greater future as farms than forests. It must be remembered too that the great West has practically no timber, and yet its lands are vastly more valuable than the timber lands of the Pacific coast. —National Magazine.

Saloon Thought No. 416

The more the saloon rule, the higher the tax rate MUST go. If there is a city that is WHOLLY under the saloon scepter, it is Cincinnati, Ohio. Just take a glance at the way their tax rate has gone up. This is the rate per thousand:

1899	$25.74
1900	25.98
1901	24.82
1902	23.18
1903	22.70
1904	22.54
1905	22.38
1906	26.00
1907	29.16
1908	29.60
1909	31.11

Please remember that during the year 1907 the Anti-Saloon League commenced to drive them out of the smaller cities, and they have congregated into the large cities of Ohio, and notice how the tax rate has crawled up the more they are congregated.

To show you that this is true, Washington county and many other counties show about the following:

Washington county, 1908, (wet) ..... 7,105 mills

Washington county, 1909, (dry) ..... 5,175 mills

This was a reduction of $30,000 for the one county.

Muskinggum county, 1908, (wet) ..... 7,255 mills

Muskinggum county, 1909, (dry) ..... 6,955 mills

This made a very handsome reduction, too. Many counties show a very decided reduction. You will notice that our taxes MUST increase from year to year for the same reason.

be any consistency in German policy she would not shrink from going to similar extremes for the protection of her endangered rights in Persia.

As to just what these rights are, German officialdom still leaves us in the dark. So far we have heard of nothing but "economic aims" in general as the goal of Teuton ambitions in the Shah's domains. The representative of the Deutsche rank, who has been looking into German commercial and financial opportunities in Persia, is now on his way back to Berlin. The position will probably not develop definitely until this emissary, said Ruete, has reported to his superiors. Meantime, the vigorous diplomatic action which the Wilhelmstrasse has initiated in London and St. Petersburg will be pursued. The unexpectedness of Germany's conduct gives rise to wonder whether the kaiser's government did not choose what it considered a psychological moment for launching the Persian thunderbolt, particularly with regard to England's preoccupation with domestic affairs.

"Simplicissimus," the famous Munich comic weekly, has been officially banned from the army. General von Heeringen, the minister of war, has issued a peremptory secret order, which has become public with alarming alacrity, prohibiting officers not only from subscribing to "Simplicissimus," but from reading it under any circumstances. In order to pledge officers to obedience to the order they were called upon to sign it individually. Their honor is now rigidly engaged, and infractions, it may be supposed, will be relentlessly punished.

"Simplicissimus" hardly needed the splendid advertisement the war minister's order has given it. The journal contrives to get itself confiscated with regularity, owing to its daring caricatures of the kaiser and other exalted personages. "Simplicissimus" is published in Bavaria and is not subject, therefore, to prosecution for "lese majesty" against the king of Prussia, and it is accustomed to cartoon Emperor William and other members of the Hohenzollern dynasty with much freedom. Its humor, when directed at august personages, is seldom devoid of malice, and is often downright brutal in tone; yet "Simplicissimus" is an undoubted factor in modern German public opinion, and the recognition of its power by the war minister's latest order is not likely to decrease the paper's popularity or influence. In many quarters the expulsion of "Simplicissimus" from the army is ridiculed as a childish maneuver, which reflects unfavorably on the individual sense of honor and propriety of the German officer, quite apart from the manner in which his personal liberty of conscience is interfered with.

Mr. Roosevelt's Berlin University address produced an interesting echo at the annual German Evangelical-Social congress in Chemnitz. The well known Pan-German political economist, Prof. Adolf Wagner, referring to the ex-president, said: "Recently, on the historic soil of our university we heard America praised from a proud mouth. But Germany has not sunk so deep that a couple of hundred millionaires can stake manage not only our economic, but our political life. To such a point Germany will never come, because it adheres firmly to the monarchical principle."

After this sally at the land of Roosevelt, Prof Wagner remarked:

"No civilized people in the world should be so thankful to God as the Germans, who, during the course of a century have been raised from the depths of need and shame to the sunny heights of world power—to a point to eminent that the proudest mistress of the seas begins to tremble before us. What a change has God indeed wrought."

Prof. Wagner went on to explain that Germany's advance in science, wealth and culture was, after all, of wholly unselfish character. "Our work," he said, "serves the world, for Germany has been the standard bearer of religious freedom and is now the pioneer of social reform."

Now that the traveling season is upon us it can do no harm to remind the traveler of certain precautions which he will do well not to neglect when journeying on the continent. Very few tourists are apt to give a moment's attention to the seedy looking man who hovers round the arrivals at a railway terminus, and, if he thinks the prospect promising he follows them to the ticket office. When they are near the ticket window he usually calls in the assistance of a friend much better dressed than himself who politely requests a light for his cigar or asks some easily answered question, while the seedy looking individual runs with skillful fingers through the pockets of the unwary. A few minutes later the traveler is turning his pockets inside out and wondering "what on earth did I do with my purse." Many are other ways is which the voyager may have his holiday pleasure sadly diminished through want of circumspection.

If the traveler is a woman she may carry her pompadour with tickets and money dependent from her waist. If so, the situation is certain to be taken advantage of by the railway thief with a strong pair of steel-cutting scissors. The traveler again, especially on continental corridor trains, may be tempted to leave his small hand luggage, perhaps with valuable contents, in his compartment while he goes to spend an hour or two in the refreshment car, to find upon his return that his small luggage has disappeared beyond retrieval. Even when lodged safely, as he thinks, in his hotel he will be wise to take no chances with his jewelry or banknotes, but deposit them in the hotel safe.

GLTANINGS AND GOSSIP.

The eighth satellite of Jupiter which was discovered at the Greenwich observatory in January has proved to be a most interesting affair with a decidedly eccentric orbit. It varies in its distance from the planet from 10,000,000 to 20,000,000 miles, and revolves about it in 26 months.

The geologists in charge of the coast survey in Alaska report that there are 6,000,000,000 tons of coal in sight with the country only partially explored. Several syndicates have talked about claims, but mining will not begin until all titles have been examined and allowed at the Alaskan land office.

One of the teachers at the girls' industrial school at Clarkson, Miss., says that most of the pupils are very poor and are being sent there by churches or else are working their own way. One girl came to the school recently leading a cow. She had traveled 25 miles over the mountains and plains to sell milk and so pay her way through the school.

Vulcan, an alleged planet, was discovered in 1859, only to be effectively obliterated from the planetary system 50 years later. Leverrier, who acted at godfather of the new addition, calculated a path and found that the planet revolved around the sun in about 20 days. Yet other observers failed ever to see the planet, and now Prof. Campbell announces that the eclipse observations of recent years prove, almost conclusively, that the existence of such a body is a practical impossibility.

SALE OF EMBROIDERIES

Cordes' Add Interest to the June Clearing Sale With Special Purchase.

Attention is directed to John C. Cordes' full page advertisement on another page of this issue. It is a combination embroidery and June clearing announcement, teeming with value giving, and especially should the embroidery proposition appeal to the public.

Mr. Cordes bought this embroidery from a New York manufacturer who is discontinuing in the wholesale business to engage in importing exclusively. The price concession was half regular price and Mr. Cordes bought a large quantity and a wide assortment. He now offers it at half what it would cost ordinarily and it undoubtedly is a mercantile offer that seldom comes to Sedalia. A perusal of Mr. Cordes' advertisement will show other price-making for June that means money saving. The announcement in detail is found on page 4 section II of this morning's Democrat-Sentinel.

MADE REMARKABLE FLIGHT

Charles K. Hamilton Was in the Air Over an Hour in Big Storm.

New York, June 11.—Through the wind, rain, mist and storm, Charles K. Hamilton, late this afternoon flew continuously for one hour, six minutes and fifteen seconds, circling over Governor's island, the upper bay of Buttermilk channel, skirting Jersey City, Communipaw, Ellis' island, Bedloes island and South Brooklyn. The total mileage Hamilton flew this evening is estimated as equal to the distance from New York to Trenton, N. P., 56.8 miles.

Artistic Effects in Concrete.

The roughly finished, crudely executed examples of concrete in residence construction are rapidly giving way to ornate and attractive homes, many of them costing well up in the thousands. Because a house is small it need not be inartistic serving merely as a shelter and little more. The best architects are taking advantage of the infinite adaptability to which cement lends itself, and what was once only a poor imitation is rapidly coming into a class of its own. Many of the early types were built after the often erratic ideas of the owners, with the result that imitation pillars which in real stone would support a massive edifice, were made to uphold a porch roof about as expansive as a dining room table.

When builders began to use cement as cement, the result was as pleasing as the imitative efforts were freaky and atrocious. What is being done in the way of handsome residence effects in cement will be seen in these pages (Popular Mechanics) during the next few months.

Smoothly finished cement, either in the white or a gentle tint, makes a background with great possibilities and the planning of a cement residence is an instance where the landscape gardener and the architect should work together from the start if the most satisfactory results are to be obtained.—Popular Mechanics.

Helpful as The Basement Store Has Been in Economies

Beginning Monday, a Host of Bargains From all Departments, Will be Placed on Sale in the Basement
DOUBLING ITS HELP TO YOU

New Arrangement--Great Additions

As a special feature and surprise for Pay-Day Shoppers and others who may not be aware of the value our basement store has been in its money-saving possibilities, we have made extensive alterations in this section, enlarging the selling space and placing on sale large varieties of special offerings from all departments, that you may be among the hundreds who know the help this section extends. The toilet sundries' section has been removed to the main floor, in center of the north aisle—the rest room, purposely made large to fill in space when the basement was first opened about a year ago, has been reduced in size, but no less inviting, and into this space gained by these attractions, bargains from many up-stairs departments, have been grouped and go on sale Monday for the first time in their new quarters—and now a genuine feast of bargains greets the visitor to this "store in itself."

CELLULOID BOOMERANGS.

Used By Experts in This Country—Also Made of Cardboard.

The skill of the Australian bushmen in boomerang throwing is not exaggerated in the least for the boomerang wielded by an expert is a thing of magic. It will soar through the air like a bird, now just skimming the surface of the ground, turning in circles, finally falling just where it has been aimed to fall.

The boomerang can be fashioned of ash or hickory, says a writer in St. Nicholas, but can also be cut or stamped out of celluloid and hard rubber. Boomerangs are now being sold in two or three American cities. Several expert throwers in this country have fashioned their own boomerangs not only of celluloid but of heavy cardboard.

If the cardboard does not get wet it makes a serviceable missile. Celluloid is excellent for the purpose because it is light, very hard to break and can be worked into the peculiar curve and twist which are so necessary to give the boomerang its force and direction.

MISCELLANEOUS RECIPES.

Tapioca Blanc-Mange.

One pint of new milk, half a pound of farina-tapioca soaked in water four hours, three fourths of a cup of sugar, two teaspoons of almond or vanilla extract and a little salt. Heat the milk and stir the soaked tapioca. When it has dissolved add the sugar. Boil slowly 15 minutes, stirring all the time; take from the fire and beat until nearly cold. Flavor and pour into a mold dipped in cold water.

Apple Butter.

Boil down a kettleful of cider to two thirds the original quantity. Pare, core and slice juicy apples and put as many into the cider as it will cover. Boil slowly, stirring often with a flat stick, and when the apples are tender to breaking take them out with a perforated skimmer, draining well against the sides of the kettle. Put in a second supply of apples and stew them soft, as many as the cider will hold. Take from the fire, pour all together into a tub or large crock; cover and let it stand 12 hours. Then return to the kettle and boil down, stirring all the while until it is the consistency of thick custard and brown in color. Spice well with ground mixed spices.

Rochester Ginger Snaps.

One cup of molasses, one cup of sugar, one heaping cup of butter, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one teaspoonful ginger, one teaspoonful of soda. Boil this together from five to eight minutes; let it cool, then mix with flour and roll very thin. Cut into strips one inch wide and four or more inches long. Bake on floured tins in a quick oven. The shape is a distinctive feature.

Washington Pudding.

One half pint custard, one half ounce gelatine, one gill cream, one gill milk, two ounces sugar, two or three sponge cakes, a little raspberry jam, one half wine glass sherry. Cut the sponge cakes into thick slices and spread with jam; put them in a pie dish or soup plate and pour over them the sherry. Soak the gelatine in the milk for about 15 minutes and dissolve gently over the fire. Whip the cream, add the custard and the sugar, then strain in the dissolved gelatine. Color half the mixture with a few drops of cochineal. Place a Charlotte or fancy cake mold on ice, or in a very cold place. Pour in a little of the colored custard, let it set; add a little of the plain custard and let that set; then add a layer of the soaked cake and fill up the remainder of the mold with alternate layers of custard and cake and put in a cool place to set. When firm turn out quickly into a cold dish and serve.

Crumb Cake.

Cream a lump of butter the size of an egg with a cup of brown sugar, add a teaspoonful of cinnamon and one cup of flour. Before going further take from this mixture a large spoonful for frosting for the cake. Add to what remains a teaspoonful of cloves, a cup of sour milk, a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a tablespoonful of hot water, a cup of seeded raisins and if needed more flour. Put into a pan, sprinkle the top with the reserved frosting and bake.

Chocolate Charlotte.

Soak a quarter of a package of gelatine in one third of a cupful of cold water for two hours. Whip one pint of cream to a froth and put it in a bowl, which should be placed in a pan of ice water. Put half an ounce of shaved chocolate in a small pan with two tablespoons of sugar and one of boiling water, and stir over the hot fire until smooth and glossy. Add to this a gill of hot milk and the soaked gelatine and stir until the gelatine is dissolved. Sprinkle a generous half cupful of powdered sugar over the cream. Now add the chocolate and gelatine mixture and stir gently until it begins to thicken. Line a quart charlotte mold with lady fingers and when the cream is so thick that it will just pour, turn it gently into the mold. Place the charlotte in a cold place for an hour or more and before serving turn out on a flat dish.

Graham Muffins.

One quart graham flour, two tablespoonfuls baking powder, two tablespoonfuls sugar, a little salt, one half tablespoonful butter, two eggs and enough milk to make a good batter. Bake in small pans at once in a good oven.

NEWS OF THE RAIL

THE PEOPLE WHO TRAVEL LUXURIOUSLY MUST PAY MORE MONEY IN FUTURE.

COACH, CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

The latest move to secure more revenue for the railroads is a plan to charge an excess fare for all passengers riding in Pullman and parlor cars.

With a view to discussing this proposition a conference between committees representing all the passenger traffic associations of the United States has been called for June 21 in New York City.

The idea was originated in the trunk line association, whose members gave it their approval and asked the other associations to appoint committees to take the matter up.

None of the committees appointed has yet suggested the amount of excess that should be added for people who ride in luxurious cars. Some have stated that they think the penalty ought to be as great as 1 cent per mile, making the Pullman rate 3 cents and the coach rate 2 cents per mile.

Others believe that this is too great. The move will undoubtedly meet with the opposition of the Pullman company, for it will in effect be an increase in Pullman rates, as it will cost travelers more to ride in Pullman cars, in addition to their seat or berth fares, than it does to ride in ordinary coaches.

The argument made by the passenger traffic men in favor of the move is that the railroads do not get for hauling Pullman cars anything like the revenue they receive for hauling coaches.

Y. M. C. A. BUILDING FUND BREAKING MONEY RAISING RECORDS.

$35,000 SUBSCRIBED ALREADY

Close of the First Four Days' Work Leaves Only $15,000 to Be Raised—Mass Meeting Tonight.

Could anything be more expressive of the recognition of Sedalia's need of a Y. M. C. A. building than the fact that in the four past days up to 10 o'clock last night $35,000 has been raised and all expected results have been beyond the original figures estimated, which were considered the best that could be hoped for?

"Who would have thought it?" is the usual remark when Sedalians look at the total. Many were the discouragements met with when the leaders first entered this campaign, and now to see the old-time sprit and enthusiasm of Sedalia manifested so plainly is gratifying in the extreme.

One of the most remarkable gatherings of the campaign was the luncheon of yesterday, when the splendid figures recorded up to that hour were announced. It is the ambition of each worker to see this campaign close immediately, and leave several days remainng to congratulate each other in, and as the end draws nearer hearty, enthusiastic applause is forthcoming.

The following is the complete report of all committees and teams recorded up to 1 p. m. Saturday from 170 pledges received:

Committee Chairman.	Amount.
Citizens' John Montgomery...	$ 660
Young Men's, Geo. H. Ware...	465
Rural, L. M. Monsees.....	———
Team. Captain.	Amount.
1—Lee Montgomery.....	$ 545
2—Jake Brandt.....	276
3—E. E. Codding.....	556
4—T. H. Johnson.....	567
5—Dr. W. J. Ferguson...	———
6—Judge D. E. Kennedy.....	———
7—R. M. Johns.....	594
8—E. E. Johnston.....	340
9—M. Chasnoff.....	470
10—Judge John Bohling.....	1,230
Total subscribed Saturday..	$ 5,703
Amount previously reported..	27,941
Total	$33,644

Judge H. B. Shain, presided over the meeting and in a few well chosen words spoke of the admiration he felt for the Y. M. C. A. work, and gave assurance of his hearty support of the organization, both in the present raising of the $50,000 and in the future maintenance of the same.

He was followed with a short talk by Mr. S. E. Spencer, chairman of the executive committee, who proposed that a vote be taken to settle several inquiries regarding the employing of Sedalia contractors and workmen, and using Sedalia made material in the construction and furnishng of the building.

By a rising vote of all committees and teams present, and with hearty applause, it was agreed to give Sedalia the preference in the letting of contracts for the erection and equipment of the new building, where bids are consistent.

One minute talks were made by several other workers.

Mr. E. E. Codding, captain of team No. 3, reported that every member of the police department had contributed liberally to the fund, placing both the police and postoffice departments prominently in the front ranks of donors.

Team No. 10, Judge J. H. Bohling captain, won first honors at the luncheon for highest returns for the day, and therefore their table gets the banner Monday.

Honorable mention is made of the record gained by the young men's comittee, Geo. H. Ware chairman. These workers have secured 112 subscriptions, amountng to $2,274, entirely subscribed by the young men of the city, who recognize the need of a Y. M. C. A. in their midst.

This evening at 8 o'clock a union meeting of all the churches of the city will be held in the New Sedalia theater in honor of the Y. M. C. A. campaign, and as a fitting start of the final week.

The public is urged to be present, as a splendid speaker has been secured for this event in Mr. E. W. Stephens, of Columbia, Mo., president of the Stephens Publishing Co., and for more than twenty years a member of the Y. M. C. A. state executive committee.

Mr. Stephens is a man of great ability as a speaker and Y. M. C. A. worker, and a treat is assured to all who attend this meeting.

Miss Agnes Scott Longan will be soloist, which assures a musical program of great excellence. Every worker in the campaign is rejoicing over the results of the past four days' work, and are certainly entitled to do so for the record breaking record established.

But the hardest work of all is ahead. The great success so far attained is wonderful; but the goal is not reached, and the public is asked to assist in the tremendous work of reaching the smaller subscribers by telephone, or writing their desire to contribute to this fund. Remember, that no amount you would like to give is too small to add to this fund; and the contributor whose means do not permit of generous giving will express just as much willingness to aid in securing this building by a small subscription as if a thousand dollars had been the amount subscribed.

In everything there must be a final push to reach a climax, and in this campaign it is going to be the multitude of small amounts subscribed that will win the victory.

Overconfidence must not be the order, as only when the $50,000 mark has been passed will Sedalia be certain that she will not lose the prize.

Let every one who can possibly do so be present at the meeting tonight and start off the final week of the campaign with a vigor and determination that can not be outrivaled in the history of Sedalia.

The following answers to questions often asked is printed for the information of all inquirers who are anxious to see this building erected.

First—Where will this building be located?

Answer—The site has not yet been selected, but the location will be as central as is possible to obtain.

Second—How many stories high will it be, what will it contain and how will the Y. M. C. A. maintain it?

Answer—It will not be less than three stories high, and will con tain the following departments:

Basement—Swimming pool, bowling alleys, separate shower and bath rooms for men and boys, lavatories toilets, heating apparatus. Possibly lunch room and barber shop will be located here.

First floor— Lobby of reception hall, administration offices, reading, social, game and check rooms. Gymnasium.

Second floor—Boys' reading room game and toilet rooms, educational and banquet rooms, kitchen, ladies' rest room, with toilet, gymnasium running track.

Third floor— Dormitories, lavatories toilet, linen and storage rooms.

The income from a new building as described above would pay a much larger proportion of the expenses than ever could come from rented quarters. The additional receipts from membership fees, because the right kind of a building means attraction and interest from a larger number of men and boys.

It is also planned that provision shall be made in the new building for at least thirty dormitories, and the

Mr. Stafford was taken violently ill Friday night, June 3, and died Saturday morning, June 4th at 5:30 o'clock.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. W. Phares, a minister of the Christian church, and the body was laid to rest in Willow Mount cemetery of that place.

GLEANINGS AND GOSSIP

The Union Pacific railroad has established a college for the instruction of its employes, where they will be taught by experts.

There is a union of hatmakers at Le Mans, France, in which the offices of president, vice president, secretary and treasurer are held by one man.

The first matriculation of women students at the universities in Prussia has resulted in the admission of 663 students, including 43 from America and seven from the United Kingdom.

A motor parade was one of the features of a recent county fair in Kansas. Only automobiles owned by farmers were allowed in the parade and there were more than 100 cars in line.

Sir William Pfolkes has been elected president of King's Lynn Sons of Reffley, England, a most exclusive social society, which has been in existence for nearly a century and a half.

On the shores of Cape Cod there were, during a period of 20 years following 1881, as many as one thousand wrecks of vessels carrying precious cargoes of human beings and of freight.

Booth Tarkington is said to have announced that he will write no more books. If only a few of the enthusiastic Indiana authors would follow his example life would not seem quite so sorrowful.

A good deal of Camembert cheese is now made in Wisconsin, and the cheesemakers in the Bray district of Normandy are trying to get up some scheme for protecting the name of the real camembert which they make.

A good many of the small towns on Long Island have gone for prohibition several years in succession and some of them report conditions as anything but favorable. More "speak easies" are about now than ever have been known before.

A record run of 1,554 miles by a motorboat traveling at the rate of 27.3 miles an hour throughout the distance has been accomplished by the Brer Fox 11, which left Cincinnati recently to make the long-distance speed test run to New Orleans.

Paris is having much trouble with the moving picture craze, and the camera operators now even invade the cemeteries when the funeral of some well-known person is being held. The government had to forbid photographers from attending executions, as they wanted to even make films of these.

At the Rockefeller Institute Flexner and Carrel proved that visible death is not true somatic death; that grew into live animals organs and tissues of animals that had been in cold storage for a month. In some cases certain functions seem to continue in the grave until every part of the man is dead.

A curious Wagner souvenir in the form of a silk handkerchief was sold recently at Liepmann's, in Berlin, for 155 marks. On the handkerchief was printed a poem and this introduction: "To Fraulein Minna Planer, on her marriage to Musical Director Richard Wagner, Konisberg, November 14, 1836."

All school children in Japan have to undergo a thorough physical inspection, once a year, and the schoolhouses are inspected by physicians once a month. The pupils are watched carefully and if found ailing are sent home and their parents ordered to take care of them properly. Monthly mental examinations are also held, for Japan realizes that her future must be protected.

The waiters in Berlin are considering a plan to make tipping obligatory, and the kaiser should sit on them at once. Their idea is to establish a regular table of tips and to demand one of 12 per cent of the bill in small restaurants and of 8 per cent in the fashionable places. Ten per cent is the sensible tip for the world over, and that is much too high for the service given in the majority of places.

A professor at a well-known engineering college says that but for occasional innovations in the application of learning, such as the following, he would find it hard to judge the extent of his usefulness, says Everybody's magazine. This question was asked upon an examination paper: "What steps would you take in determining the hight of a building, using an aneroid barometer?" The answer was: "I would lower the barometer by a string and measure the string."

A minister, frequently away from home, was in the habit of getting some one to stay with his wife and small daughter in his absence, says the Delineator. Once, however, he went so unexpectedly and hurriedly that he had no time to make such provision for them. The wife was very brave until night came, when her courage began to fail. After exhausting every reasonable excuse for staying up, she put the child to bed with the injunction to pray especially for God's protection during father's absence. "Yes mother, we will do that tonight," said the little girl, "but the next time we will make better arrangements."

20 ACRES ON FIRE

SEATTLE HAD A MILLION DOLLAR BLAZE FOLLOWING A HURRICANE.

FOUR HUNDRED PEOPLE HOMELESS

Sixty Horses Were Cremated—Rain Began Falling, or Otherwise the Loss Would Have Been Much Larger.

Associated Press.

Seattle, Wash., June 11.—Fire that broke out on the northern water front during a hurricane last night was carried by the wind to the district eastward thickly covered by wooden buildings and in a short time twenty acres was ablaze, causing a loss of $1,000,000 and driving 500 people into the streets homeless.

Just as the firemen begus to despair of saving the large and populous area east of Second avenue, the wind suddenly abated and brisk rain began to fall, materially aiding the fire fighters by quenching the coals that were blown to the roofs of the buildings.

So far as known only three persons were seriously hurt, although many firemen were slightly injured. Sixty horses were burned in a barn.

The district has long been considered a dangerous risk, and the insurance rates were so high that most of the light wooden buildings carried little or no insurance.

HAWLEY LEAVES SEDALIA

Has Accepted Position With the C., H. & D. at Indianapolis.

John Hawley, a cousin of Edwin Hawley, one of the powerful railway magnates of the United States, who for more than a year has been employed as chief clerk for C. M. Hunt, trainmaster for the Missouri Pacific, resigned Saturday, and will leave today for Indianapolis, Ind., to locate.

The resignation of Mr. Hawley is occasioned by the profferance of a flattering offer from Denny Sullivan, formerly trainmaster for the Missouri Pacific at Jefferson City, but now superintendent for the C., H. & D. railway at Indianapolis.

W. Kane, recently employed in the office of the Santa Fe superintendent at Kansas City, succeeds Mr. Hawley. He arrived here Saturday and will enter upon his duties at once.

Mr. Hawley is a clever and accommodating railway official, and since locating in Sedalia has made hundreds of friends, who will extend to him best wishes for success in his new home in the Hoosier state.

REBATING IS CHARGED

Against Stock Yard Companies in Matter of Rates.

Pleasant Reading for the Fat.

What a simple and inexpensive solving of the fat woman's problem the Marmola Prescription Tablets provide. She takes one of these harmless pleasant little tablets after each meal and at bedtime and loses from 12 to 16 ounces of fat each day, and yet suffers no harm, creates no disturbances inwardly and produces no wrinkles. This elegant preparation (made exactly in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription) has rendered exercising and dieting for the reduction of excess flesh as superfluous as a fifth wheel. A further recommendation is that it is the least expensive fat reducer on the market, a large case costing only 75 cents from any druggist or by mail from the Marmola Co., 967 Farmer building, Detroit, Mich., containing a quantity of tablets large enough to give very decided results in most every case.

Wall Paper at Scott's

...e Story of American Shoes.

The story of leather in the United States is largely a history of invention and improvement in shoe-making machinery.

Starting with the stitching-machine of Colonel McKay (who was, it should be said, more of an exploiter than an inventor), in rapid succession there were put on the market machines for welting, pegging,—indeed, more than a score for performing all those complicated operations by which the modern ready-made shoe is built up. Ever since the days of McKay there has prevailed a peculiar system among shoe machine manufacturers of renting but never selling their apparatus. To this day the shoemaker does not buy the machines to do his work; he rents them for a term of years, paying a royalty on each shoe made,—about three cents on a pair of woman's shoes and from four to five cents on a pair of man's. When the United Shoe Machinery Company was formed by a combination in 1899 this method was perpetuated.

Although New England has the honor of being the first seat of the shoe industry, and though it may still be said to hold its primacy in the number of shoes manufactured, New York and Pennsylvania early in their history acquired a pre-eminence in the tanning end of the leather business and also in the purely mercantile phases. It was, moreover, as is pointed out in another place, from central New York that the American glove business started. The leather merchants of New York have always stood high in the community, and for many years in their close association in that district in New York city which was and still is familiarly known as "the Swamp" there was perhaps a touch of clannishness which is more characteristic of the trade guilds of the Old World than of American business life.—American Review of Reviews.

Kept the Letters.

"I learned the game of love once," sighed the young man in the blue waistcoat.

"So?" asked his chum.

"Yes; through a school of correspondence. I took ten lessons.

"And did you realize anything?"

"Only that I was a lobster. She kept the letters and sued me for breach of promise."

Too Small.

A Word to Sedalia People on a Subject of Interest.

AMERICA'S FOREMOST PIANO HOUSE THE JESSE FRENCH PIANO CO.

Now Have a Permanent Home in Sedalia

Have Leased the New Store Room, No. 504 South Ohio Street, in the New Odd Fellow's Building, and Will Occupy it the Last of This Week

This week the Jesse French Piano Co. will move to its new home in the Odd Fellows' building, 504 Ohio street.

For weeks and months mechanics of every kind have been transforming this large building into a more convenient and more beautiful structure. The room the Jesse French store will occupy received its share of the improvements and decorations and is now ready for this growing and popular piano store.

The Jesse French store, under Mr. E. J. Adamson's able management, has made remarkable progress. It was instituted in Sedalia two years ago, and every day has shown advancement. Something of these great piano builders will be of interest to Sedalians.

The Jesse French Piano company is one of the largest and financially the strongest house in Missouri, Texas, Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee. They manufacture 8,000 Starr, Richmond, Trayser and Remington pianos and Player pianos each year. The buying organization of the Starr and Jesse French Piano companies' size and capacity is $3,000,000. They have about 85,000 of their pianos in constant use and their combined wholesale and retail organizations have sold 100,000 pianos. The value of these instruments is nearly $30,000,000.00.

They have in their factory and selling department over 1,200 employes. Their organization has been continuous since 1872 and they now have, or are interested in twenty stores in twelve different states. Their Pianos and Player Pianos are sold from ocean to ocean and on both continents.

Thousands of pianos manufactured by this company are in use in colleges and conservatories and some of the largest college equipments purchased in America have been sold by this company, principally those of the Judson Institute, Marion, Ala.; The Ward Seminary, Nashville, Tenn.; Polytechnic School, Ft. Worth, Texas; Baylor University, Baylor, Texas, etc. Some of these institutions have as many as 65 of their pianos in use.

The business of this company has been under the same ownership and management for the past 38 years; the descendants of the original owners being in control of the business at the present time. The Northwestern Division of the company is under the management of W. A. Lippman, General Manager, at St. Louis. The executive officers of the entire organization are as follows: Henry Gennett, President; M. L. Field, Vice President; Harry Gennett, Treasurer; O. A. Field, Secretary.

The Sedalia branch and district, including Western Missouri, is under the management of E. J. Adamson. Mr. Adamson has established agencies in the following towns: C. B. Corwin, Jefferson City, Mo.; J. E. Roberts, Nevada, Mo.; F .A. Day, Lexington, Mo.; Asbury & Halley, Fayette, Mo.; J. R. Heathman, Excelsior Springs, Mo.; Foster & Amick, Windsor, Mo.; Ed Nelson Furniture Co., Versailles, Mo.; Mrs. H. M. Ellis, Tipton, Mo.; Ross & Roe, Pilot Grove, Mo.; Evans & Parker, Lamonte, Mo.; L. Kinkhorst, Brunswick, Mo.; E. Tannehill, Moberly, Mo.

This company has been successful in securing at their Sedalia branch the services of the following well known traveling representatives and employes: Wm. Cabaniss, E. F. Hausam, A. P. Hammerschmidt, J. F. Fine, O. C. Cook, J W. Bolton, F. A. Hammond, Miss Ethel Fessenden, Miss Minnie Huddlestan and Mr. A. M. Hughes, piano tuner.

Since opening their popular branch store in this city in 1908, they have supplied hundreds of homes with Pianos and Player Pianos, each customer being a satisfied purchaser, which proves it is a prosperous musical concern that justly deserves the admiration and patronage of the citizens of Sedalia and vicinity.

The wonderful success of this store is attributed to the favor and good will of the people of Sedalia and vicinity who have found the long established reliability of this house is an absolute guarantee of satisfaction and value in their purchase which is a protection against disappointment later on.

Another feature of this concern is that they show a great variety of Upright, Player and Grand Pianos in various woods and styles. They manufacture their entire line of instruments, thus saving the buyer all middlemen's profits and commissions.

They are more than grateful to the community for the wonderful success of the Sedalia branch and to prove it they propose to continue in the future as in the past, to sell good Pianos and Player Pianos at prices and terms, "quality considered," that cannot be duplicated elsewhere.

At this store you will always receive careful, courteous, painstaking attention, no matter whether you buy or just looking for information and comparison. They propose to win success by deserving it and they do not expect your trade unless they can show you that it is distinctly to your advantage to buy your Piano or Player Piano direct from the Manufacturer's Branch Store.

Remember the Jesse French Piano Company's new location is No. 504 South Ohio street, where they hope to be favored with your visit entirely regardless whether you desire to buy a Piano or Player Piano.

THE WORD OF A COWARD.

When Evan Bancroft, a young Virginian, went to study at the University of Heidelberg he promised his mother that he would never fight a duel. But Bancroft did not consider it necessary to refrain from joining the fighting corps and engaging in harmless encounters. Indeed, there was plenty of fighting material in him inherited from his progenitors, and this was why his mother had exacted the promise. Her father had been killed in a duel, one of her brothers through reckless exposure in the civil war, while another had been shot attempting to defend a prisoner from a mob. These shafts of death, striking so near her, caused her to brood and induced a fear that her only son should fall through a similar cause.

Bancroft at Heidelberg proved so handy with all sorts of weapons as to distance all competitors save one, a young Englishman named Horcut. The two held the record for being the best swordsmen at the university, and there was a desire among the students that they should fight for the championship.

When the terms of the fight for the championship came to be arranged Horcut insisted on certain innovations rendering the affair dangerous. It was suspected by a few that he considered Bancroft the better swordsman and, judging him to be timid, wished to force him to decline the combat. This would give Horcut the championship without fighting for it or risking to lose it. He would then return to England to enjoy his honors.

Whether or no this was his object, it was accomplished. Bancroft declined to fight except under the rules for friendly contests. Horcut accused him of cowardice, and there was now nothing for him to do but challenge the Britisher to an "unprotected" fight or be cut by the members of his corps. He declined to fight either for the championship or to vindicate his courage, but he wrote his mother the facts and begged her to release him. She declined to do so. Besides, friends at home assured her that she was in a critical physical condition, and if anything happened to him it would kill her.

Bancroft neither cared to give his true reason for not fighting nor believed that it would be accepted. It would have been accepted and he would have been respected for it if he could have satisfied the students of its truth. In no country in the world are parents more beloved and respected than in Germany. But to convince a couple of thousand of young men that he was not hiding behind his mother's skirts was out of the question.

So Bancroft finished his university career a cut man, though he was burning to meet his adversary. When he went home to Virginia, finding that the story had preceded him and prejudiced some people against him, he went to the farther west and engaged in sheep raising. Soon after this his mother died.

Several years passed. One day Bancroft was treading his way on a path barely a foot wide around the side of a precipice. While doing so he saw a party of tourists coming. Persons meeting on the path must pass carefully, the one taking the outside, the other the inside. Bancroft was expecting to take the outside when suddenly he recognized in the leading man in the line of tourists his old enemy at the university. He was also recognized.

"Wait there," said Horcut, pointing to a place where the path widened a little. "I pass inside." He spoke with his old domineering tone. Bancroft stepped to the spot indicated, saying as he did so:

"I pass inside."

"You pass outside, I say," growled Horcut, remembering that Bancroft was a coward.

"Are you armed?" asked Bancroft quietly.

"No."

Bancroft took a revolver from his hip pocket and flung it over the precipice. It struck 500 feet below.

"What do you propose?" asked Horcut, blanching.

"To settle a feud of long standing. We are about the same build. Let one of us throw the other over. If I am victorious I will pass inside the rest of your party."

Horcut stood aghast. "My God, man that would be certain death for both of us."

"It would prove us both brave men."

"But—"

"We are keeping your friends waiting."

The friends were as terrified as the principals. They begged Horcut not to accept such a fearful challenge.

"Do—do I understand," faltered Horcut, "that you will pass inside those behind me?"

"That is my intention."

"And you will permit me to pass you on the outside in safety?"

"You have only the word of a coward for that."

Horcut consented with a hanging head, and the passage was made. Some of the tourists—one had been a student at Heidelberg during Bancroft's disgrace—returned to Europe, and the story got to the university. Bancroft was invited there and when he went was enthusiastically greeted. When he told of his pledge to his mother he received an ovation.—Harold Otis.

NO POLITICS FOR "WILL J."

Glad He Didn't Get Into the Race for Mayor of Sedalia.

Will J. Crawford, of Iron Brew fame, is mighty glad he didn't get into politics when his name was mentioned in connection with the mayoralty race the past spring.

He's up to his ears in business, and has just received at the M., K. & T. depot his second carload of boxes for delivering and shipping his product, direct from Toledo, Ohio, and also his second carload of bottles from a factory at Streator, Ill.

Will was correct when he decided there is more money in business than in politics of the peanut variety.

JOHN C. CORDES,

CORNER SECOND AND OSAGE.

DON'T DIE DURING THE BUSY SEASON

If you are a King, or have a title or are known as the Honorable ———, or a wealthy merchant or one of the great Captains of industry. But if you are just a plain mortal with but two hands, two feet, two eyes, two ears and have never been or done any of the great things like making fortunes, ruling kingdoms, owning and betting on fast horses, etc., but instead, have just spent your days making an honest living for your loved ones and in helping your fellow-man to stand up and look up, trying to make his lot easier and happier, trying to make it harder for him to do wrong and easier for him to do right; trying to help him to help himself to be ready for the "bootman's call" (he's going to call for one and all); if this is all you've been and done, you may die any time you are ready; there'll not be "much trade lost" on account of the event.

I stood beneath a hollow tree, the blast it hollow blew; I looked upon the hollow world with all its hollow crew; and as I looked, all said to me that all I see is like this tree—all hollow, hollow, hollow.

A train of thoughts, a part of which I have penned above, came rushing into my mind a week or so gone, when I read in one of the daily papers a headline something like this: 'Much Trade Lost—to London because the King died during the busy season. Hollow, all hollow? No. True only of those "whose god is their belly, and whose glory is their shame, who mind earthly things, whose end is destruction." The pursuit of the world, after worldly things only, simply to gratify and satisfy selfish ambition and desire is indeed all hollow, hollow, hollow: but he who lives for others, who loves his fellow-man too much to hinder and enough to help whoever whenever and however possible; who is temperate, meek, kind, gentle and patient, loves God with all his doing and hates nothing but sin and its father—the devil—that man's mission challenges the admiration of all good men; yea of the angels, and meets the approval of God. A seroph could not attain to or ask for more. What sacrifice would I not gladly make to thus be and thus live? "To be carnally minded is death, but to be spiritually minded is life and peace." The churches all over this dear old world of ours are full of just such people, and those who originated and put into practical operation, the heaven born thought of the Salvation Army, our own splendid "Day Nursery," and those now engaged in the noblest, grandest, biggest and best work Sedalians ever enjoyed in, the building of a Y. M. C. A. home are of them. "Long may they wave and never waver."

A REAL CORNCOB PIPE

Has the Best Havana-Made Beaten to a Frazzle.

The annual crop of "Missouri meerschaums" is valued at $450,000 wholesale invoice. The article is a cob pipe made by steam and a more or less complicated machinery. The finished pipe and stem are saturated with an abominable glue that takes from the nicotine of the tobacco half or more of its indescribable enchantment.

Your real cob pipe, such as General Simon Bolivar Buckner enjoys, lends a charm, a magic to the man who smokes that no Havana cigar ever imparted. It is conducive to reverie and pleasing thoughts. It is the real pipe of peace. The cob must not be steamed before the pipe is fashioned, but seasoned by the influence of a late autumn and early winter atmosphere.

Imagine in the Kentucky Pennyride of "'tis 60 years since" an old colored slave shelling corn for "a turn o' meat." He sets aside some dozen of the cobs that suit his fancy. These, he makes into pipes with deft and cunning hand with sharp knife he had employed to scrape "basket splits." When "stripping" tobacco his master had allowed him to choose 25 or 30 pounds of the pick of the crop. This was left in bulk the entire winter, and when in early June it went into "sweat" it was sprayed with old peach brandy, in which new honey was dissolved. Then it was twisted and laid away in an old, dry oak "chist" till fall.

Archie, the old servitor, who, if he had ever quoted De Quincy's "O Abner, fear God and nothing else," would have qualified it thus, "except my wife, Car'line." Car'line was the cook, and ruled Archie as their master never did. Along in the late October, Archie would sit down to a supper of potlicker, cabbage or black eyed pea, his appetite whetted by a generous hog driver of plain whisky his master had rewarded him with, and he would eat and eat and eat potlicker, cornbread, sweet 'taters, and okra, and drink and drink and drink fresh, cool buttermilk.

After that he would load his corncob pipe with the tobacco he had stored away and smoke and smoke and smoke.

If it was good possum weather he summoned every boy on the place white and black, and went with dog into the swamp, where he rarely failed of his mission. Otherwise he told the chaps tales like Uncle Remus was delivered of. That was luxury; it was happiness!—Washington Post.

A MANUSCRIPT'S STORY.

I was born when my mother was 19 years old. Her uncle, a middle aged man, had done something in a literary way, and I was turned over to him by my mother's mother to be looked over. He took me to his study and sat down with me, first sharpening his pencil with which to cut me in pieces, for I heard him say that my mother knew nothing about writing and he supposed "the thing was full of rhetorical blunders." When he began to read me he wore a bored look, but he had read but one paragraph before his expression changed. As he read on he forgot who had written me, and when he had finished he exclaimed:

"By thunder!"

Then he called my mother and her mother into his study and asked my mother:

"Where did you learn to write English correctly?"

"In school."

'School be hanged! There's something else here that you didn't learn at all. It was born in you. Send your story out just as it is. If it is appreciated it will be accepted, but I don't believe it will be. It will come back to you and keep coming back."

They took me away, and the mother said to the daughter: "Your uncle is sore because all his own manuscripts come back to him. Don't you believe him, my dear. Your story will be accepted, and you will get a good price for it."

The next day I was sent to the Globe Publishing Company. I was turned over to a young fellow they called a weeder. He looked over the manuscripts which came in the morning's mail and out of the lot picked one. I heard him mention the author's name. I had heard it once before. The rest of us were put in the editor's name to them, saying a few very nice things and thanking our parents for sending us in.

When my poor little mother saw by the bulk of the package that I had been returned to her the tears started in her eyes. Her uncle said: "I told you so. I don't believe they read a line of it. However, I know Simpson & Co. They've turned down a lot of my work, but perhaps they'll read this if I make a personal request. Let me have it tomorrow."

The next day he took me to Simpson & Co. and had a long talk about me with the editor, who was very polite and promised to give me his especial attention. After my mother's uncle had gone away the editor tossed me to a weary looking man sitting at a desk covered with manuscripts and said:

"Read that."

It was two weeks before the tired looking man took me up in my turn, then ran over twenty pages of me in as many seconds and wrote on my wrapper "Declined." And so I was sent back again to my mother, who had hoped that her uncle's personal effort would insure success. She was nearly as much disappointed as at first.

And so I continued to go from one publishing house to another without acceptance. Finally I attracted the attention of an intellectual looking editor, who wrote this criticism:

If we were looking for literature I would recommend the publication of this book. But as we are looking for "best sellers" I would decline it.

However, my mother got nothing but the printed slip when I was returned, though it was couched in just as polite terms as the first.

Meanwhile a publisher told my mother that she would better write something "startling"—a trifle erotic he said. So innocent was she that she thought he said erratic. She went to work and turned out my brother. Poor boy! He was deformed in frame and intellect from birth. Mother was very much ashamed of him and wouldn't acknowlerge him by publishing him under her own name. But he was published under a nom de plume and proved a second best seller.

My mother continued to give me all her affection notwithstanding the fact that my brother made so much money for her. She was now deluged with requests for something from her "gifted pen." She sent me out once more, and I was accepted at once, but she refused to permit my publication under the name which had been appended to my crazy brother. The publishers would not issue me unless she consented to this. They offered her a large sum with that name to me, but she was obdurate, and so I was obliged to remain in obscurity.

Mother would write nothing more, and at last, not making any money, which she needed, she wrote the publisher who had wanted me that he could have me to publish under her fictitious name. He wrote her in reply that the public had forgotten her former book, that the character of all fiction had changed and that if he were to publish me under any name whatever he couldn't sell a thousand copies. He added: "Your first effort could only have been sold as by the author of a 'second best seller.'"

And so my only opportunity passed without my getting out into the world. My uncle, who is now old and philosophic, says that these "best sellers" are a development like "stars" on the stage. Other books, like other actors, must remain in obscurity, for the public can only be attracted by that which is most prominent.

I wonder if any of them know.—Constance Wild.

ARE MARVELS OF ENDURANCE

East African Carriers Said to Make Light of Feats That Would Stagger a Mule.

A carrier costs about 10 cents a day in our money, with a few red bananas and green stuff thrown in for his food. One will "tote" a load of sixty pounds through a place where a Missouri mule would lie down in disgust, according to a writer in Putnam's. Toting here means a good many things. The packers will follow an elephant road, cut their way through flags and reeds high above their heads, wade through black mud up to their necks, and when they "squat" the bundle from their heads it will be dry and clean. There are many tales in the cavavan. Mr. Roosevelt is a rather heavy weight, but the Baganda carriers have back muscles like iron that will hold him above the water unaided, for they are among the strongest men in the world, and "Ndulu" is the song in which they brag of their ability to do "stunts" like this. If Kermit takes a snapshot of his father sitting on the shoulders of a toter, his legs astride his neck, it will probably not be published, but this sort of thing is common enough in the swamps.

Some funny things go into those bundles. Not only food and clothing dishes, bedding, even stoves, but they tie live goats and calves by their legs, curve them like links of the letter S and make a pack as snug as a blanket roll.

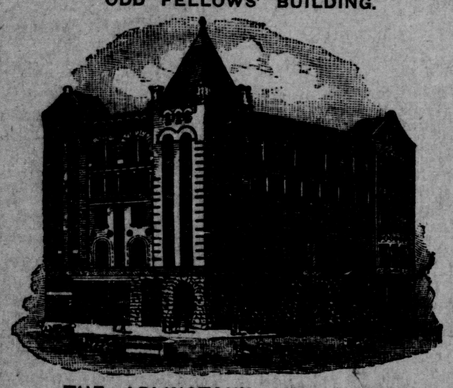
ODD FELLOWS' BUILDING.



THE ARLINGTON'S NEW HOME.

In this new location we are so much better prepared than ever to serve our many kind patrons. We will have much more room---a larger store and a very much more adequate basement. Our business has increased most satisfactorily for the past several years, and our stock increasing correspondingly we required more spacious quarters.

The new Odd Fellows' building at Fifth and Ohio, the remodeling of which was one of the progressive things Sedalia and the members of the great lodge of Odd Fellows might well be proud. Our store, long established, had the first offer from the Odd Fellows, and the Odd Fellows had their first offer from us for the corner room. The result was that a contract was closed, giving us a TWELVE-YEAR lease on the room. Much praise is due that loyal citizen, Mr. F. E. Hoffman, for building in our city such substantial structure as the Hoffman building, constructed at a time when it was more than NOW far in advance of the city's other buildings; then, much praise is due the lodge of Odd Fellows for their clever thought in buying and remodeling the structure in keeping with the growth of our city and the growth of Odd Fellowsship in this good town. Mr. Buren, the secretary of the lodge, acting upon his own good judgment, and with the advice of the board of trustees, composed of F. E. Hoffman, H. B. Shain and H. L. Barnum, has been energetic and quite capable in superintending the reconstruction of the building, so that now Sedalia has at Fifth and Ohio a modern building with elevator service and everything else that is worthy of Sedalia if the city grows twice her present size. The building is being rapidly filled with progressive tenants. The "Arlington" is on the corner, the Jesse French Piano Co. is next door. Drs. McNeil, Fowler and Weaver, Mr. Keyser (for the Bankers' association), Rosa Pearl (with her good society paper), occupy the second floor. Drs. Sutton and Barnum are on the third floor. Drs. Wills, Monroe, Titsworth, Loofborrow, Myers, Miss Walton (ladies' tailoring), and the Odd Fellows' offices are all on the fourth floor. The fifth floor has the most elegant and elegantly furnished, handsomely lighted lodge rooms in the state. It is the meeting place of the Fidelity Council, No. 53, K. & L. of S.; Sedalia lodge No. 25, I. O. O. F.; Camp No. 5570, M. W. of A., and Sedalia Camp No 6184, R. The same courteous treatment, the same high quality of medicines and merchandise, the same prompt attention to telephone calls, the same old telephone numbers (14--both phones), will be maintained in our new location. income from them would mean nearly three thousand dollars a year, and still the young men would be paying only a small monthly rental each and would have an inviting, comfortable and convenient home. It will always be necessary to secure outside contributions as long as any work is done.

The fact is the Young Men's Christian association is organized to help boys and young men needing its influence and co-operation, and a large part nearly the entire membership, can not afford to belong to an expensive club or pay high dues.

The character of the work is such a tremendous help in any city or community that the men and women want to take some active part in its maintenance. A large part of its work is in reaching out and co-operating with the home, the school and other organized forces in training and developing the efficiency of the boys and the young men, and the members can not be expected to bear all the expenses connected with this outside work.

Is the Y. M. C. A. for all classes of men, young men and boys?

Answer—Yes, there is no line of distinction and all may become members; nationality or religious beliefs are not considered in the acceptance of applications for membership.

Is any provision made for gymnasium work for ladies, and do they have classes for physical exercise?

Answer—Yes. They have the use of the gymnasium and swimming pool at specified times, or by special arrangements with the management.

Who is paying the expense of the luncheons that are served daily to the workers?

Answer—Every worker and officer in the Y. M. C. A. campaign pays 25 cents daily before he enters the dining room. The meal is furnished by the ladies of the various churches, each church having special days when in charge. There is absolutely no expense to the Y. M. C. A. involved in this plan if meeting.

MAKING SODA WATER STRAWS.

A Trade Which Keeps Two Young Girls in Pocket Money.

"We make our own allowance raising soda water straws," said a young girl who came to New York the other day on a shopping trip. "Five years ago we moved to the country and father planted a rye patch for the chickens. The next summer, when the grain began to ripen, my sister and I, who were small girls, used to play hide and seek in the rye patch. Then we began to pick some of the longest straws and make 'suckers.' I don't know just how long this was going on when mother took us into town with her one day and we went to a drugstore and had some soda.

"It was the first soda water my sister and I had ever tasted and we noticed that the straws were just like the 'suckers' we had been making for our own use. One of us called mother's attention to this fact and she very promptly recognized the opportunity for turning our play into a money making business. She sent for the head of that department of the store and learned that there was a demand or good straws at $1.25 a thousand, done up in little bundles containing 100 straws each.

"The next day father cut an armful of straw and brought it to us on the back piazza. Then under mother's direction we cut our first soda water straws for the trade. That year and the next mother worked with us, but for the last three years sister and I have been doing it all alone and every cent we make is our own.

"For us there is no outlay besides our own work. Father plants the rye each year for the chickens and cows and gives us as many straws as we can clean and bundle. So far as our experience goes that is the only limit to the market.

"To make the best soda water straws the rye should be cut a little underripe and left loose, not tied in bundles. When allowed to dry in the field the straws will split and are worthless. The heads of the rye are cut off so there is no waste of the grain. Only about two joints of each straw can be used, as the first two are generally spoiled by cutting and the last, the one next the grain head, is much too small. The first step after [illegible] the straw in the [illegible]-room is to clip out the joints with the scissors, peel off the outer covering; then grade them as to size and length and make into small bundles of 100 each.

"The longest straws we turn out are 14 inches, while the shortest are 7. The straws should always be clipped with sharp scissors obliquely, because if cut straight across they are graded as machine cut and do not bring such a good price. Another important point is that each bundle should contain straws as nearly the same size as it is possible to get them and they should be exactly the same length.

"When we first began the work our season was very short, because the straw ripened so quickly. Now that we have learned how to keep the straw in condition by housing it in a cool and not too damp cellar the season is more than twice as long and we make about five times as much money. Our customers are always willing to buy more straws than we have, and I have understood from them that the wholesale dealers were eager to buy at any season of the year. During the season, which now includes nearly our entire school vacation, my sister and I earn $5 a week apiece working about five hours a day."—New York Sun.

WHAT OF RULERS?

THE RELATIONS BETWEEN EMPEROR WILLIAM AND KING GEORGE DISCUSSED.

ENGLAND AND PRUSSIA CONCERNED

This Is the Second Time in History That the Two Rulers Are Cousins—This Terminates All the Resemblance.

(BY WELLINGTON HOPE.)
International News Service.

London, June 11.—What effect will the ascension of King George V. to the English throne have on the relations existing between England and Germany? This is a question that is being discussed pro and con by political agitators, and in the opinion of leading European statesmen the result will depend largely on the relations between the two rulers—King George and Emperor William.

This is the second time in history that the kings of England and Prussia are cousins.

The first time this happened was in the reign of George II., who was the cousin of Frederick William I., of Prussia, the kidnaper of giants and the father of Frederick the Great. Their cousincy, too, was exactly of the sort as now exists between William II. and George V.; that is to say, the sister of George I., Sophia Charlotte, was the mother of Frederick William in the same way that Princess Victoria, the sister of Edward VII., came to be the mother of William II.

But this terminates all resemblance between the two cases. For the first couple of royal cousins hated each other like poison, and were once almost on the point of going for each other with naked swords. Their mutual dislike had begun to manifest itself when they were little more than children, at Hanover, whither the rough Prussian cub had been sent to improve his manners. He began by fighting with his Guelf cousin, a boy twice his age, though of weaker bone, and giving him a bloody nose. Afterward, when both had come to the crowns, they did nothing but mock at each other. "These two cousins," says Carlyle, "went on offending each other by the mere act of living simultaneously."

Very different are the two royal cousins—George V. and William II., who now rule, respectively, at London and Berlin. Differrent they certainly are from their several ancestors, though it is not so clear how they regard one another. They are comparatively new to one another, seeing that they were never much together as boys or young men, owing to Cousin George being practically at sea up to his 27th year.

On leaving the training ship Britannia the two royal brothers of Wales were absent for three years on their cruise in the Bacchante, a cruise on which they had embarked after their sailor cousin, Henry of Prussia, had given them a lead. For in the previous year (1878) Prince Henry in his steam corvette Prinz Adalbert (Captain MacLean, a namesake and by descent a clansman, of the Moorish Kaid), had started, like another Anson, on his circumnavigation of the world, and thus set an example which his cousins of Wales were fain to emulate.

It will be remembered that at the beginning of 1892, when the Boer war was still in progress, it was a very delicate and indeed almost dangerous time, as far as concerned the relations between England and Germany.

When it became known that the Prince of Wales was going over to Berlin on behalf of his royal father, to attend the celebration of the kaiser's birthday (January 27), it was asked who had taken the initiative in this important step at a time of such strained relations between the two countries. Much depended upon the answer to the question so far as concerned public opinion on both sides of the sea, and the answer was supplied by the semi-official organ of the German foreign office:

"The emperor has gladly invited the prince to be his guest on his birthday."

Thereupon there was an outburst of press bickerings, and there were even those on this side who suggested that the prince's visit to Berlin should be abandoned. But it came off, notwithstanding, and was a decided success. The emperor loaded his English sailor cousin with all kinds of compliments. He appointed him honorary colonel of the Eighth Prussian Cuirassiers, quartered at Cologne, a regiment with a famous history, and then carried him off to lunch with the First Dragoon guards (Queen Victoria's Own), to the honorable colonelcy of which the prince's father had succeeded.

On leaving Berlin the prince went to Mecklenburg-Strelitz to pay his respects to the dowager empress of that ilk, the Cambridge grandmother of his wife, and the last surviving link with the Georgian era. It was admitted on all hands that the presence of the prince in Berlin had done a deal of good by clearing away certain misunderstandings and paving the way for the return of normal relations between the two countries.

But the relations were still destined to get worse before they grew better. In November of this same year (1902) the emperor might be said to have returned the prince's visit by coming over to Shorncliffe to inspect his English regiment, "The Royals," which had just returned from the front, and thereafter to join the house party at Sandringham for the king's birthday. This was to be the kaiser's last visit for five years, though he and the king were to meet in Germany repeatedly in the interval, but not in 1905, a year fertile in all sorts of heartburnings between London and Berlin, political and personal.

It was the year in which the kaiser made his celebrated descent on Tangier and fluttered all the dovecots of Europe. It was also the year of the crown prince's marriage, for which one would have thought the Prince of Wales would return to Berlin. But no; the duty of representing the English court at the wedding of the heir to the German throne was relegated to Prince Arthur of Connaught, and the kaiser could not but feel the rebuff, which he showed possibly by omitting, for once, to meet his English uncle, on the latter's way, a few weeks later, through Germany to Marienbad.

The international coolness may be said to have come to an end when their imperial majesties came over in the autumn of 1907 to pay their second state visit to this country; and then the Prince of Wales was again free to resume his pilgrim activities in Germany, to which he went, and the princess with him, in the spring of the following year to inspect his Cuirassier regiment at Cologne, and then pass to Darmstadt and Paris.

But there is one place at least, to speak of no others, where the kaiser and his English cousin can meet on perfectly equal terms, and that is the deck of a battleship; and I rather think that George V. prefers his rank as admiral a la suite of the German navy to that of colonel of the Cologne Cuirassiers. It is hard to say whether the sailor or the soldier predominates in the kaiser, but there can be no doubt as to this in the case of our new king; and it is a most fortunate circumstance that we should have a sailor sovereign at a time when the most momentous question of the day is the steady development of Germany's naval power. The king at least ought to understand all the technical pros and cons of this question.

Again, it is a circumstance favorable to the future relations between the two sovereigns that they are better assorted in respect of age than were uncle and nephew. For the kaiser, now in his 51st year, is only six years the senior of his cousin George. Under the new constellation of monarchs the relations between England and Germany may possibly become different, but not necessarily worse. They may even grow better.

WHISKY BOTTLE'S $10 BILL

Proved Valuable at a Church Fair at Nevada, Mo.

Mrs. John Clack, of Nevada, Mo., is ahead $10 in a unique way. Several years ago she put up grape juice in bottles. One of the bottles was used in a church fair, and when cleaning it Mrs. Clark rubbed off the label.

It was a second label, and beneath that was a ten-dollar bill neatly folded on a background of white paper.

How the bill came to be where it was found is unknown. The second label was that of the company which puts up whisky.

It is possible that the money was put there by the firm as a prize to encourage the sale. The whisky, according to the date line, was bottled in 1900.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

A New Jersey farmer has discovered that music pays in the dairy business. He employed a Swiss milkmaid who yodeled, and the daily supply of milk increased. The milkmaid left, the cows moped and the milk supply decreased. He bought a phonograph and installed it in the stables, and when he put in the kind of music the cows liked they gave down freely. Some tunes made them dry up.

With the extension and development of the railroads of the eastern part of Canada, the prospects grow brighter for the establishment of a new ocean route between the eastern and western continents. The terminus on this side will be Green bay, Newfoundland, and the other will be at some convenient port of Great Britain and the projectors claim that this will possibly shorten the transatlantic trip by 36 hours between the United States and England. But little railroad construction is required to make the Green bay readily accessible from any point. A great point in favor of this route is that it is claimed to be practically free of fog, and at all seasons of the year vessels may ply this water with speed and safety.

Alma Hollinsworth of Portland, Ore., has made one of the fastest ascents of Mt. Hood. She has far surpassed the climbing records of other women who have gone up the mountain, and only three men have beaten her speed, both on the climb and on the descent. With three friends and a guide she reached the snow line in the afternoon. There part of the night was spent, and in a few hours the party began to go through the five miles of snow to the summit. The start was made at 2:30 a. m. and the crest was reached at noon. Here an hour was spent and then the descent began. It was continued all the way down the mountain and on to a hotel, reached at 11 p. m., giving a total distance for the day of 28 miles. A dance was in progress in the hotel and Miss Hollingsworth had enough energy left for a lively two-step.

AMERICAN MOTOR CARS

Being Sold Cheaper In England Than Here at Home.

International News Service.

London, June 11.—America has exceeded France as the chief rival of England in automobile production in this country. Hames Hinks, a Birmingham manufacturer, continued, in speaking at a meeting of his company there, that American motor cars were being sold in England at cheaper rates than in America.

This was one of the evils suffered by England under free trade—America dumping a huge quantity of her surplus manufactures in this country.

During a 15,000 miles' tour of the United States and Mexico, from which he had just returned, he was greatly impressed by the prosperity prevailing under the protective system.

IS SINGING A NUISANCE?

That of a Nightingale Disturbed Neighbor.

International News Service.

Vienna, June 11.—"Is a nightingale's singing a nuisance?" is the knotty point of law which has been engaging the attention of the supreme court here.

A citizen of Gratz owns one of these sweet singers, which he hangs outside his window of nights. The bird's songs, however, were not to the taste of a neighbor, who complained that his sleep was disturbed, and applied for an injunction to make the bird fancier keep his nocturnal songster inside the house.

The injunction was refused by a local court, but an appeal to a higher court was successful. Now the owner of the bird has appealed to the supreme court, and the arguments have been lengthy and learned.

But the supreme court judges were unable to decide whether the nightly serenade was a nuisance, and reversed their judgment.

ADULTERATION OF FOOD

Trade Secrets Revealed at a London Exhibition.

International News Service.

London, June 11.—A useful object-lesson and warning in the matter of food adulteration is provided at a pure food exhibition, where trade secrets are ruthlessly revealed.

From the exhibits the householder may learn how cheap coffees are adulterated with powdered date-stones and dried liver; jams with carrots, turnips and bird seed; tea with leaves of common English trees; and vinegar with acetic acid and water.

The moral of the exhibition is. "Don't buy a made-up article at a price less than the cost-price of the ostensible ingredients."

DO IT NOW

Sedalia People Should Not Wait Until it Is Too Late.

The appalling death rate from kidney disease is due in most cases to the fact that the little kidney troubles are usua'ly neglected until they become serious. The slight symptoms give place to chronic disorders and the sufferer goes gradually into the grasp of diabetes, dropsy, Bright's disease, gravel or some other serious form of kidney complaint.

If you suffer from backache, headaches, dizzy spells; if the kidney secretions are irregular of passage and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. Help the kidneys at once.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney disorders—they cure where others fail. Over one hundred thousand people have recommended them. Here's a case at home:

Mrs. Ellen McNeil, 803 E. Broadway, Sedalia, Mo., says: "I suffered a great deal from kidney and bladder trouble and had pains in the small of my back and hips. My rest was often disturbed and I arose in the morning feeling lame and sore. I generally felt tired and languid and I sometimes noticed a swelling beneath my eyes. I tried several remedies, but was not helped until a neighbor told me about Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured a box at Bard's Drug Store and the results of their use were better than I had expected. In a short time I was in good health. I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

WOMAN BEAR HUNTER.

Good Shot Brought Down Bruin and Saved Her Favorite Dog.

Mrs. Addie Walker, a preposessing little woman of Rifle, not only killed a large bear this week with a bullet from a weapon in her own hands, but she risked her life in an attempt to prevent the bear from killing one of her favorite bear dogs.

The battle between bruin and the plucky Mrs. Walker occurred on Mann Creek, near Rifle, and in the section where Col. Roosevelt hunted bear and mountain lion four yars ago. Fred Tolland the guide had shown Mrs. Walker where bear might be found and had loaned the Tolland and Teague bear dogs to her for the purpose of cornering the animal. She did get the big brute in a corner and thought she had ended his troubles as well as those of the dogs when she sent a bullet into his body at the point of the shoulder.

Instead of calming the animal, as she thought it would, it enraged him and a two hour chase behind the dogs and the bear through the down timber and jungles found the bear in the center of the creek where the water is probably two or three feet deep at this season of the year.

The dogs apparently reasoned that he would be easily subdued in the water for they plunged headlong in after him. The bear lost no time in grappling the first one which by the way happened to be the favorite of the huntress. He grabbed the canine in his huge arms hugged him with the affection peculiar to the type of bruin, and then began to show additional affection by whipping the stream with him in about the same manner the successful fisherman would whip a stream for trout.

This not only angered the dog, but it was more than Mrs. Walker could endure. She could not shoot because the bear was so active in his operations that it was difficult to determine in the confusion which was the bear and which was the dog.

She hesitated only a moment and then leaned over the cliff, which is about fifteen feet above the underbrush at the bank of the creek. Alighting squarely on her feet she plunged into the edge of the water and in doing so her display of courage evidently attracted the attention of the bear for he discontinued operations with the dog reared up to a height gan to show the same signs of affec of six feet above the water and be tion he had when the dog intruded the stream.

This gave Mrs. Walker an excellent opportunity to display her skill and standing in water over a foot in depth she directed a bullet to a point exactly between the eyes of the big brute and he fell over in the creek—the battle ended.

After getting him out it was found that he was of the black bear species—an unusual species for this section—was a monster in size and had one of the sleekest skins in this vicinity for years.

AT 74 OWES FINE HEAD OF HAIR TO CUTICURA

Itching, Scaling Scalp Humor was Making It All Fall Out—Two Doctors Could Not Stop the Trouble—Niece Advised Using Cuticura.

CURED HER SCALP AND MADE HAIR GROW AGAIN

"My mother used to have a very bad humor on her head which the doctors called an eczema, and for it I had two different doctors. Her head was very sore and her hair nearly all fell out in spite of what they both did. One day her niece came in to see her and they were speaking of how her hair was falling out and the doctors did it no good. She says, 'Aunt, why don't you try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment?' Mother did and they helped her, so she soon began bathing with the Cuticura Soap and anointing with the Cuticura Ointment, and in six months' time the itching, burning and scaling of her head was over and her hair began growing. To-day she feels very much in debt to Cuticura Soap and Ointment for the fine head of hair she has for an old lady seventy-four years old.

"In regard to my own case, mine was an eczema something like hers. It was in my feet. As soon as the cold weather came my feet would itch and burn and then they would crack open and bleed. Then I thought I would flee to my mother's friends, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I did for four or five winters and now my feet are as smooth as any one's. Ellsworth Dunham, Hiram, Me., Sept. 30, 1909."

What Barnum Said of Cuticura.

P. T. Barnum, the famous circus man, once wrote: "I have had the Cuticura Remedies among the contents of my medicine chest with my shows for the last three seasons, and I can cheerfully certify that they were very effective in every case which called for their use."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor of Infants, Children and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap (25c.) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to Heal the Skin and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.), (or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60) to Purify the Blood. Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., 135 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass. Mailed Free, 32-page Cuticura Book on Skin Diseases, and their Speedy, Economical Treatment.

A RISKY EXPERIMENT.

In the city of New York the throng of carriages on Fifth avenue is often so great that mounted policemen are stationed at intervals to keep them in line and extricate them when blocked. One afternoon as it was growing dark a gentleman threaded his way to a stalled carriage and mounted to the box beside the liveried coachman. Astonishment kept the latter silent for a moment; then when he was about to speak the gentleman stopped him.

"James," he said in a low voice, "you know me?"

"Certainly, Mr. Townsend."

"You also know that I am a friend of your mistress. Now, I wish you to relinquish the reins to me. Get off the box and disappear in the throng. Come to my office tomorrow and you will receive five years' wages."

There was little hesitancy in accepting such a tempting offer.

Now there had been for some time a desperate love game between Mr. Townsend and Miss Annette Van Deveer, the occupant of the carriage. The lady would encourage her lover for a brief season, when she would suddenly treat him with the most studied indifference. This blowing hot and cold on the heart alternately sets the blood coursing wildly and makes a man do very reckless things. But Frank Townsend was as much of a genius at the game of love as Paul Murphy was at the game of chess. He made up his mind to a campaign which if unsuccessful would mark him for a fool, but, if he knew Miss Van Deveer correctly, would win her.

The lady wondered why she was so long in reaching her home. When the carriage stopped it was under a porte cochere. The man on the box gave a call, which was answered by a maid, who came out of the house and received whispered instructions from the coachman. She opened the coach door. The lady stepped out, looking about her in surprise, but before she could collect her senses was hurried into the house. She became alarmed and turned to go back through the door by which she had come. It was locked.

"What does this mean?" she cried, both indignant and terrified.

"That you are a prisoner."

"A prisoner?"

"Yes, but don't distress yourself. You will come to no harm. You will be treated with every respect."

Beyond this Miss Van Deveeer could get no satisfaction. She at last consented to go to her room, where she was locked in.

She had not been there long before the door was opened and a note was thrown in. It read:

Your treatment of me has made me desperate. I have kidnaped you and shall hold you till you have promised to be my wife. If you wish to see me, ring, and I will send for you.

F. TOWNSEND.

It was but a few minutes before a ring was heard downstairs. Then a maid threw open the door and conducted Miss Van Deveer to the drawing room, where Mr. Townsend awaited her.

"What crozy freak is this?" she demanded haughtily.

"If I am crazy I have been made so by love for you."

"I demand to be sent home immediately. They will be frightened at my absence. It is not proper that I should be here in your house."

"As to the first I care nothing. As to the second, you shall be treated as becomes the lady you are."

"Do you realize that when my being here is known, as it will be if I do not leave immediately, I shall be severely criticised?"

"All the more reason for you to comply with the terms of ransom and go at once."

The lady was talking excitedly, the gentleman as coolly as if he were an Italian bandit ready to cut off her ear and send it to her relatives.

"I supposed, Frank Townsend, that you were reckless, but I never took you for a fool."

"A fool will pull the house down over his head and the woman he loves."

"Do you mean to say that you will permit this act to be known among your friends and be cut by every one of them? As soon as they hear all they will exonerate me."

"If I can't win you I am ready to be cut by the whole world."

There was no promise of relenting. Miss Van Deveer stood looking at her captor with a curious expression. Through all her blowing hot and cold she had intended to marry him. Indeed, she was desperately in love with him. If she allowed this unheard of affair to proceed it meant ruin to all concerned. There was no alternative except capitulation.

"Order the carriage," she said.

"It is at the door, and my coachman is on the box. Come. I can get you home before the dinner hour."

Mr. Townsend and Miss Van Deveer got into the carriage together, and the former's coachman drove them to their home which they reached just as the family were sitting down to dinner. He did not receive an invitation to dine. Indeed, it was a month before the lady would receive him, but he was patient and in time was rewarded by being forgiven.

When the wedding occurred, at which many of New York's nabobs were present and the bride promised to love, honor and obey, no one suspected how her consent had been won.—Merrick Augur.

S.S.S. CURES OLD SORES

"I CAN TRUTHFULLY SAY S. S. S. IS A CERTAIN CURE FOR OLD SORES, BECAUSE IT CURED ME OF A BAD ULCER, ON WHICH OTHER TREATMENTS HAD NO EFFECT."

This extract from the testimonial we publish below, will receive the endorsement of thousands of other persons who have used S. S. S. for sores and ulcers.

Every old sore comes from some kind of impurity in the blood. S. S. S. cures on the simple principle of removing the cause of the sore or ulcer and allowing nature to heal the place. When we think for a moment we realize that every portion of the body and system is dependent on the blood; that it is the circulation which nourishes all flesh tissues, and preserves their natural health. Thus we can readily understand why impurities or poisons in this vital fluid will infect and disease the flesh at some particular spot, and by continually discharging impurities into it, keep the place open, raw or inflamed. It would be against every law of reason to expect the sore to heal while the blood constantly deposits into it the infectious matter with which it is contaminated.

There is a simple way to cure old sores, and it is the only way—remove the cause from the circulation. External applications of liniments, plasters, lotions, salves, etc., can never produce a cure, because such treatment does not reach the blood, where the cause is located.

S. S. S. heals old sores because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers; it goes into the circulation and removes the cause from the blood. When the blood has been purified there is no longer any inflammatory impurity or infectious matter to irritate the place, and nature causes the natural and certain healing of the ulcer. When S.S.S. has cleansed the blood and the place is once more well, it is not a surface cure, every vestige of the old cause has been driven out and the place is solidly and firmly healed from the bottom to the surface. S. S. S. is made entirely of healing, cleansing roots, herbs and barks, and contains no trace of mineral. It is a medicine adapted to persons of any age, and is just as effective with the old as with the young or middle aged.

I can truthfully say S. S. S. is a certain cure for Old Sores, because it cured me of a bad ulcer, on which other treatments had no effect. Five years ago a running sore came on my limb. I tried everything I could hear of, but the sore grew worse. Even the doctors could not heal it. A friend finally told me to try S. S. S., so I did and in the meantime wrote you for advice. I followed your instructions and took S. S. S. regularly. My leg began to improve, gradually the place healed over and began to look healthy, and finally the sore was cured entirely. I believe S. S. S. to be the best blood purifier one can use. I gladly recommend it as a cure for sores and ulcers.
Rockford, Wash. A. S. LACY.

Under the purifying and tonic effects of S. S. S. the system is built up, and those whose health has been weakened by the drain of an old sore will be doubly benefited by its use. If you wish to know anything specially about your case write us. We will answer you fully, and will also send our book on Sores and Ulcers—no charge for either book or advice. Gleanings and Gossip.

The czar has now issued a ukase against using phonographs for advertising purposes. If he could issue a universal one against their rendering certain so-called popular songs he would make himself much more of a general favorite.

William Allen White of Kansas says that whiskers have gone out of fashion in that section of the country. But Judge E. K. Gates of Cherryville, Mo., whose whiskers are 22 inches long, claims White does not know what he is talking about.

Ruined Beauty

Deprived of their natural and greatest charm Women become objects of aversion even to themselves.

The women of today have become victims of an over-civilization. In their zeal and endeavor to keep pace with the demands of fashion they have converted their heads into germ incubators.

Thousands of ladies will testify to the fact that the advent of the rat, puffs and pompadours marked beginning of their the trouble—the appearance of dandruff and the attendant loss of hair.

The girl with beautiful hair is the Herpicide Girl. She needs no rats, puffs or switches, she has hair of her own and plenty of it.

The massive head dresses of the present have given that busy little microbe, the dandruff germ, an opportunity never before equalled for destructive work. As a result ladies who have never been troubled are now affected with dandruff and their hair comes out by the handful.

Every mail brings new evidence of the prevalence of hair trouble. The story told by these letters is one of interest to every woman, because they also reveal the avenue of escape.

Mrs. I. Kinney, of 261 Crown St., New Haven, Conn., writes: "Your Herpicide is working like a charm. The itching has stopped and new hair is growing."

From Denver, Colo., comes a glowing tribute: "I attribute the restoration of my hair entirely to the superior merits of your Herpicide."—Signed, Mrs. M. Megrue, 1717 Tremont Street.

Thousands Are Saved

The woman who never uses Herpicide is aptly described as "a rag, a bone and a hank o' hair."

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

Saves the hair. It kills the dandruff germ and prevents the hair from falling. The use of this powerful germicide and scalp dressing has saved thousands of women from worse than baldness—that scraggy, thin, wispy hair, so ugly and unsightly—the kind of hair that will make an otherwise handsome woman homely. It stops itching of the scalp instantly.

Send for our Book, "The Hair and Its Care." It is free. If 10 Cents is sent to The Herpicide Company, Dept. 33B., Detroit, Mich., a sample of Herpicide will be sent with the book.

TO CLEAN FANCY THINGS.

Many women are expert cleaners, and not only gloves, but blouses, neckties, jabots, fronts, fans and feathers, which require special care, have been treated successfully by amateur methods. Gasoline is the great standby of the home cleaner, few chemicals possessing such admirable cleansing properties as this spirit, while its cost is sufficiently low to warrant its widespread use. The great danger, however, to this method of cleaning is that of fire, and where much of it is used too much care cannot be taken in employing it as well as storing it. In ordering it, a small quantity should be procured, and the spirit must always, if possible, be located in a shed or yard, and only brought indoors when it is required for use. Cleaning should on no account be effected by artificial light, nor should articles be treated in a room with a lit fire or stove.

In the case of gloves, difficulty is often experienced by the novice in restoring a perfectly clean, even surface to the kid or suede, the first attempts often resulting in failure from want of experience. To treat them successfully the gloves should first be placed at the bottom of a deep bowl and covered with gasoline. They should then be gently squeezed, the spirit poured off into a clean bottle and fresh added, the same procedure being repeated until the kid or suede is clean.

If the finger-tips are still soiled they should be rubbed with a flannel dipped in petrol and then rinsed in a fresh supply. The spirit should then be squeezed out, and the gloves hung in the sun or over the hot-water pipes, the precaution being taken in the latter case to lay a clean piece of muslin over the coils to protect the gloves. By this method of drying, the smell—which is generally such a drawback to dry-cleaning—is entirely obviated.

Blouses of white silk, mousseline de soie, or other light fabrics, can be successfully treated in the same manner, a good method being that of investing in a close-fitting jar for the purpose. The blouses are then enclosed in the jar, gasoline is poured over them, and the cover fastened down tightly. After 24 hours the garments should be squeezed with the fingers till all the spirit is removed, when they should be well shaken in the sun for a few moments.

To clean chiffon fans, the covering should be detached carefully from the sticks and placed in a flat dish, which should then be filled with gasoline, the dirt being eliminated by dabbing the chiffon with a piece of flannel. The fan should afterwards be dried in a warm spot, and then replaced on the mount.—Philadelphia Press.
